

A Tribute to JCP's Peer Reviewers

The mission of The Journal of Clinical Psychiatry is straightforward. We are the nexus where science meets clinical practice. Our job is to cull through the myriad submissions from the world over that we are privileged to receive each day. From those, we select the most rigorous and relevant, try to improve them even more, then present them monthly to inform practicing psychiatrists and others. In other words, our job is to help you, our readers, do your jobs—to improve the lives of people who put themselves in your care.

To accomplish this vital mission, the editors and our superb staff turn to colleagues who are expert in specific domains. Anonymously and generously, they share their expertise and donate their time and efforts. We thank all of our peer reviewers for their professional commitment. The best of these best contribute a high number of excellent reviews in a timely manner. We are proud to present the following wonderful colleagues who have earned their places in our annual "Circle of Honor."
